LOOKING BACK

THE recent announcement in 'The Ringing World' of Mr. Cyril F. Johnston's resignation from the directorate of Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, Ltd., of Croydon, breaks an active partnership of over 40 years with a firm in which for the greater part of that time he was the controlling influence, particularly in regard to bells. Some 10 years after Canon Simpson had introduced his scientific method of tuning bells, Mr. Johnston, then a young man barely out of his teens, decided not only to master the principles but to introduce his own ideas in the development of this science. A life study has borne fruit, and Mr. Johnston can look back to about 50 carillons in all parts of the world which have come not only from his firm but in which he has given that personal supervision in tuning and details of the contract. This is apart from the hundreds of rings of church bells hung for change ringing. It is a record that rivals that of the great 17th century Dutch firm of Haemony Bros., of Amsterdam, which between 1644 and 1684 gave to Europe some 50 carillons.

Two of the largest carillons with which he was associated were provided through the munificence of John D. Rockefeller, jun., who visited Croydon! That at Riverside Drive Church, New York, contains 72 bells in a tower 400ft. high, with ascent by four elevators. The big bass bell in C weighs 18½ tons. The sister carillon in the chapel of Chicago University has also 72 bells with a bass bell of 17 tons in C sharp.

Another carillon he looks back upon with special pride is that in the Houses of Parliament at Ottawa. These 53 bells, with the largest weighing 10 tons, were provided to mark the 60th anniversary of the confederation of Canadian provinces in 1927. At the inaugural ceremony a squadron of 12 American planes, led by Col. Lindberg, attended, and one of the planes crashed. The funeral march was played on the new carillon by Lefève when the dead airman was buried. As far as London is concerned, probably the carillon that was most publicised was that for the Wellington War Memorial, New Zealand. Recitals were given on it daily by Clifford Ball, of Bournville, in Hyde Park during the summer of 1930.

A memorable day for Mr. Johnston occurred in May, 1925, when King George V. and Queen Mary visited the Croydon works and saw a number of bells cast, including a ring for Great Haseley, in Oxfordshire, and a bell for Buckingham Palace. Some 10,000 people visited the works that day. There have been other royal visits. Princess Beatrice came to see Carisbrooke bells cast, and the Duke of Connaught also attended. But royalty have not by any means been the only visitors it has been Mr. Johnston's privilege to entertain. Many will recall the three mammoth tea parties given by Mr. Johnston to the Exercise—that in 1932, embracing a company of 2,300 ringers and friends. Seventy of the prettiest girls in Croydon acted as hostesses and talked glibly if not always accurately about Superlative and higher methods to the amusement of those present.

Mr. Johnston's reminiscences would indeed fill a book. In the first World War he served with the Grenadier Guards in France, and in the last war was in command of a Works Home Guard Company, which had the benefit of Guards instructors from Wellington Barracks. The Rt. Hon. Oliver Lyttelton was his adjutant in France, and in 1944, when Mr. Johnston was elected Master of the Clock Makers Company (the year of the centenary of the firm) Mr. Oliver Lyttelton was his principal guest. About six months ago his name appeared in the Honours List, when he was appointed an officer of the Order of the British Empire 'for work done in development of the art of bell founding and tuning in this country.'

Like our other principal founders, Mr. Johnston is a practical ringer, being a pupil of the late Dr. Carpenter. He has some 32 peals to his credit, and one in which he has the happiest recollections was that at Edenbridge, called by W. G. Smith, in which all the ringers were members of his firm. He was the hon. secretary of the Surrey County Association for upwards of nine years. His son at Winchester is learning to ring, and Mrs. Johnston has entered very fully into all his activities, having on many occasions acted as clerk to him in the inspection of bells and bell frames. Space prevents us from giving but a cursory glance at a busy life of great interest to the ringing fraternity. A book of reminiscences would make a popular appeal.

STOP PRESS.

Mr. T. H. Reeves, hon. secretary and treasurer, St. Martin's Guild, Birmingham, for the past 20 years, has been succeeded by Mr.
G. E. Fearn.

Next week we hope to publish the list of those who rang 40 peals or more in 1948.

To-day is the 50th anniversary of the first peal of London Surprise rung in the City of London at St. Stephen's, Coleman Street. The band were all from St.
Peter's, Brighton, and the sole survivor is the conductor, Mr. George Williams.

A Cheshire ringer, noted for his 'cold feet,' presented Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Vincent with an electric blanket as a wedding present.

Mr. W. Twidell, sen., who has rung at Totternhoe, Beds, for over 60 years, rang his longest length on December 26th—1,260 Grandsire Doubles.

An attempt for Parker's One-part peal of Grandsire Triples at Great St. Mary's, Cambridge, on Boxing Day, came to grief five courses from the end. Four were attempting their first peal.

Patrol Leader Marion Davies' question re
Girl Guides as ringers has been answered by Hilda M. Shuttleworth, Field Head, Outgate,
Ambleside, Westmorland. She rings at St.
Michael's, Hawkshead, and is a Patrol Leader in the 1st Hawkshead Girl Guides.

Another Girl Guide ringer is Patrol Leader
Joan Greasby, of the 1st Retford, Notts, Guides. She rang her first peal on March 19th, 1948, having started learning at East
Retford in November, 1947.

Burford, Oxford, bells have been declared unsafe to ring. The traditional midnight ringing on New Year's Eve was observed by handbell ringing in the centre of the town by
J. G. Collett, M. C. F. Collett and B. S.
Nichols.

At the R.A.F. Station, Hereford, 'Ring out the old, ring in the new' was observed by F.
S. Worth (Plymouth) 1-2, R. W. F. Scarrett
(Cheltenham) 3-4, K. M. Cooper (Aldershot)
5-6, D. G. Rice (Plympton) 7-8, at the end of 1948.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Members of the University Association on New Year's Eve had the unpleasant experience in their attempted peal of 'London Royal U.A.' at Rickmansworth to come round after 3 hours 12 minutes 124356789X. It was found that 3 and 4 had changed over a course or two from end.
Mr. Wilfrid Moreton was conducting and the company had never stood all together as a band previously. Some had rung only a couple of leads or so of the method and the rest had never struck a blow. Another attempt is to be made.

Mr. W. A. Kitchenside has thrice 'circled'
Frant, Sussex, tower.

On Boxing Day Mr. Henry Tooke rang his 200th peal for the Norwich Diocesan Association.

The peal at Conisborough, Yorkshire, on Boxing Day was rung through two weddings, and concluded by ringing a third bridal party into the church.

North Staffordshire ringers feel that they climbed another rung on the ladder by the first of Superlative Surprise Major by resident members.

On the same day, Boxing Day, Mr. Arthur Pritchard and Mr. Claude Cousins rang their 200th peal. Here's to the 300th together!

Has a peal ever been rung at Stoke Roch-ford, Lincs, before? Mr. H. Reginald Woods is submitting a claim for the first on the bells.

As far as we can gather, only one peal was rung for the midnight Christmas service. This was at Clopton, Suffolk. There were a number of quarter-peals.

Mr. T. E. Sone informs us that his calling of peals of Holt's Original five times 'round the circle' took place in 16 different towers and not at Brencley as announced in our last issue.

Christmas Quiz Answers

Appended are the answers to our Christmas Quiz:—

ROUND ENGLAND QUIZ.

1. St. Andrew's, Plymouth.
2. St. John's-on-the-Wall, Bristol.
3. St. James', West Teignmouth.
4. Holy Trinity, Queensbury, Bradford.
5. Acle, Norfolk.
6. St. Andrew's, Rugby (5 and 8 bells).
7. St. Mary-the-Great, Cambridge.
8. Carlisle.
9. Bradford-on-Avon.
10. Swaffham Prior, near Cambridge.

HUNT THE PSALMS.

11. Call, Ps. 102 (2).
12. Quick, Ps. 124 (2).
13. Touch, Ps. 144 (5).
14. Guide, Ps. 7 (9).
15. Course, Ps. 19 (5).
16. Stand, Ps. 37 (41).
17. A Code. Write down the letters in order as a 24 of Bob Minimus. Read in turn the work of the treble, 2nd, 3rd, 4th: 'Some rings of bells exist in which a bell is heavier than one of lower pitch. Good examples are at Ditchling and at Cefn Coed.'

18. Darts Problem. Write a course of Plain Bob 20 in. The pairs of bells dodging at the lead-ends give the arrangements for each night (count the bell making seconds with the treble).

19. Stedman Triples. In order starting from the treble: Jack, John, Arthur, Tom, Bill, Tony, Bob, Pat. The bells are hung anticlockwise.

Anagrams. 20. Grandsire Triples. 21. Double Norwich Court Bob Major. 22. Stedman Doubles. 23. Original Caters. 24. Bristol Surprise Royal. 25. Oxford Treble Bob Minor.

The prizewinners will be announced next week.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION

An increase of 34 members, receipts increased by 50 per cent., and contributions to the Essex Bell Restoration Fund doubled, were the chief features of the secretary's report at the annual meeting of the S.W. Division of the Essex Association held at Barking on January 8th. Congratulations were also extended to the division's four very active octogenarians, E. Bacon (Loughton), G. Playle (Dagenham), W. Nelder (Wanstead) and R. Stannard (Leytonstone).

A most impressive service, conducted by the Rev. Priestnell, was enjoyed by 46 members.

The following elections were made at the business meeting which followed: Master, Mr. J. Chalk; secretary, Mr. F. V. Gant; representatives to the committee, Messrs. Sitch and Groves.

The thanks of the meeting are due to the local Master, Mr. Caleb Penn, for the excellent arrangements in a much blitzed ringing chamber.

A DAGENHAM VETERAN

On Boxing Day Mr. George Playle, of Dagenham, Essex, celebrated his 80th birthday. A life member of the Essex Association, Mr. Playle has been associated with the Dagenham tower for well over 50 years. Although not quite so well in health as of yore, George still enjoys occasional touches. The peal in his honour on Boxing Day was also the silver wedding anniversary of Mr. A. Chaplin, towerkeeper and Master at Dagenham. A peal of Bob Major was rung in their honour.

WESTON-BY-WELLAND, LEICS.—On Dec. 20th, 1,260 Doubles (480 Bob Doubles, 780 Grandsire): Miss K. Faulkner (first quarter) 1, Miss F. Hart 2, C. Windram 3, F. Wallington 4, W. Hector (cond.) 5.

A NOTE ON METHOD STRUCTURE

(With special reference to 'London'.)

Increasing interest in ringing on the higher number prompts reconsideration of the question of some Royal and Maximus methods published and rung under familiar names of Major methods, yet not always acceptable as the methods so named. The London method is still generally regarded as one of the most difficult to be rung, and as giving its successive ringers a 'hall mark.' It may therefore be of some interest generally to realise that a systematic analysis of its structure permits it to be defined in such a way that the method may be evolved, free of adulterations, as Royal and Maximus extensions of the original or basic method.

(The following is an abridged extract from a work on Principles of Method Structure in Change Ringing, and the rights of reproduction elsewhere of this article are reserved by the author.)

The main reason, perhaps, for so much controversy on the subject of extension is the lack of stated principles or conditions of the matter. A clearer idea of what is involved seems essential. There are two points of view:—

1. The Ideal. This demands that extensions must be identical in form with the basic. Strictly speaking, this can be the case only with 'Original,' though some consider that such methods as Plain Bob, Grandsire, Cambridge, Yorkshire and the like, come within this category.
2. The Proximate. This demands that the recognised extension, or contraction, must be the nearest obtainable form of the basic, having regard to certain conditions or principles of method structure.

Since the majority of recognisable extensions may be considered as falling within category 2, such conditions may be set forth as below.

In view of the unfortunate pronouncements, ambiguous and erroneous, sometimes made in regard to method structure, it is necessary, first of all, to restate, in simple terms to avoid all doubt as to intended meaning, the fundamentals, and to show how the concluded conditions or principles are derived from them. Thus:—

A. Methods having a hunt-bell (or hunt-bells as in Grandsire with two) produce rows of changes in sets usually called 'leads.' These sets of rows are linked together where the hunt-bell is found 'at the lead.' The actual dividing line between any one 'lead' of rows and its successor is thus between the two rows which have the hunt-bell at its full lead. So the first row of any 'lead' is the one with the hunt-bell striking the last blow of its full lead, before hunting up to the back; while the last row of the set is the one with the hunt-bell (usually the treble) back down again at lead, and striking the first blow of its full lead there.

B. Each set of rows ('lead') divides into exactly similar halves, on either side of an athwart dividing line which separates the two rows where the hunt-bell lies full behind. This divides the set into two 'half-leads,' the second of which will be found to be an exact 'reflection' of the first, so called because the similarity of network of the bell-paths is obvious if a mirror be placed on the dividing line to face the first or upper half, and the reflection in the mirror be compared with what lies below it in the second or lower half.

C. All sets or 'leads' of the plain course of a hunt-controlled method are identical in structure.

D. It follows from B and C above that a 'reflection' (similar to that found about the half-lead dividing line) will be found about the dividing line between the leads themselves, i.e., the first half of any lead is the 'reflection' of the second or last half of the lead immediately preceding it.

E. In methods with more than one hunt-bell these dividing lines occur at the mid-spaces between the rows of the full leads and half-leads respectively of those several hunt-bells.

F. At each of such dividing lines a bell 'makes a place' across the line. This is known as the turning or pivot-place. Thus, there is a pivot-place for the lead and a pivot-place for the half-lead, known respectively as the 'full lead pivot' and the 'half-lead pivot.' The reason for the name may be seen from B and D above, in so far as the reflection of the work of the place-making bell gives it a path after the place, which is the reflection of its path before the place. Hence the two similar parts of its path turn about its 'pivot' place.

G. Pivot places are fundamental and are fixed throughout the range of a method, in contraction from or extension from the basic. The positions of the places thus made are always counted as so many away from the hunt-bell. The full lead pivot place is counted as so many places away from the hunt-bell's full lead, while the half-lead pivot place is counted as so many away from the hunt-bell's full lie. Where a pivot bell makes its place at the extreme position in the row (that is, at the end opposite to the leading or lying of the hunt-bell(s)), it is said to pivot in the 'extreme' place.

H. In 'double' methods, the pivot places at the lie are the same numerically as at the lead, i.e., the same number of places from the position of the hunt-bell. In single methods they may be the same, but frequently are different. But in any case, whatever the positions are in the basic, so they remain throughout extension or contraction of the method. Any variation of these positions at either lead or lie is a departure from the parent method. The extreme place is always at one end of the row.

I. Following are examples of pivots in methods:—

Method.	Full-lead pivot.	Half-lead pivot.
Plain Bob	Seconds	Extreme
Cambridge	Seconds	'Seconds'
Grandsire	Thirds	Extreme
Double Norwich	Extreme	Extreme
London	Seconds	'Fourths'
Kent	Extreme	Extreme
Albion T.B.	Seconds	Extreme

J. Reconsidering what has been said in B, D and F above, it may be seen that the pattern of the whole working path of any bell divides into two main halves; the first part pivots around the full lead place-making and may be known as 'Lead-pivot Section,' while the second part pivots round the half-lead place-making and may be known as the 'Half-lead-pivot Section.' Now since each of these sections divides again into two parts, the second being the reflection of the first (as we have seen), we have, in all, four sections of bell-path work, mutually reflective in pairs.

K. These four sections of work are to be found in all hunt-controlled methods as accepted for ringing by the Exercise of to-day.

NOTE.—All the fundamentals stated above apply throughout the range of extension and contraction of hunt-controlled methods. Any so-called variant of a method which does not conform with them is clearly not the original method on that number of bells, and should be given another name or a name variant. There are other reasons for forfeiture of name-claim, as will be seen.

SUTTON COLDFIELD, WARWICKSHIRE.—On Dec. 25th, 1,260 Grandsire Doubles (rung on back six): H. Dickens, jun., 1, G. W. Anker 2, D. Nock 3, K. Smith 4, N. Smith 5, R. N. Eaton 6, W. G. Anker (cond.) 7, E. Thompson 8.

OBITUARY OF THE WEEK

MR. FREDERICK G. BIGGS.

With regret we record the death of Mr. Frederick G. Biggs, of Hughenden, Bucks, who died on Christmas morn, aged 81. He was for over 60 years a ringer at Hughenden, an excellent striker, and could take any bell in any method.

He had a vivid recollection of Lord Beaconsfield, and as a choirboy attended the funeral in 1881. He had many 'firsts' to his credit, including the first of London for the Oxford Guild in 1892, almost the first of Alliance ever rung (Crawley rang the first the previous day), the first of D.N. and Superlative for Bucks among many others. He was always ready and willing to assist beginners, and very helpful in keeping the bells in going order.

Many of his 274 peals were rung with such stalwarts as Canon G. F. Coleridge, the Rev. F. E. Robinson, the three Australian tourists, W. H. Fussell, George Martin and J. S. Goldsmith, and that prince of ringers, J. W. Washbrook, probably the greatest exponent ever, and the first ever to ring two tower bells to a peal, a feat at that time so incredible that the editor of the 'Bell News' refused to publish it until he received confirmation, which was quickly forthcoming with further similar peals and then eclipsed by taking a pair of bells to Stedman in the Rev. F. E. Robinson's thousandth peal. Fred rang more than a hundred peals with his son, Mr. Roland Biggs.

By trade a first-class chairmaker, he was one of the very few real craftsmen remaining in this deplorable age of mass production.

The funeral was at Hughenden on January 1st, many ringers from surrounding towers attending, and four of his brother ringers of Hughenden acting as bearers. A course of Triples was rung at the graveside, followed by a short touch on the tower bells. In the evening a peal of Stedman Triples was rung.

A list of his peals is appended, the first being in 1889 and the last in 1943, in 26 towers:—

Grandsire Triples 26, Caters 2; Stedman Triples 75, Caters 2, Cinques 3; Erin Caters, 1. Plain Bob Major 20, Minor 8, Spliced 1; D.N.C.B. Major, 32; Alliance Major, 1; Forward Major, 1; K.T.B. Major 8, Maximus, 1; Oxford and Kent (spliced), 1; Oxford and Kent Minor (spliced), 1; Oxford T.B. Major, 1; St. Clement's Major, 1.

Surprise Major: London 25, Cambridge 24, Superlative 17, Yorkshire 7, New Cambridge 5, Norfolk 2, Rutland 1, Bristol 2, Beaconsfield 1, Hughenden 1, Brighton 1, Newcastle 1, Spliced, 4 methods 1, Cambridge Minor 1. Total, 274.

THE REV. HECTOR MACTURK.

Silk Willoughby, Lincs, has lost a great lover of the bells by the death of the Rev. Hector MacTurk, who died on December 27th. For 24 years he was Rector. Two years ago, when he had a serious illness, he would not hear of the bells being silent, although his home was not more than 20 yards from the church. 'The bells must be rung,' he said. His opinion of ringers was equally high. 'I consider that bellringers are a noble band of churchworkers and a happy family,' he once said.

MR. E. S. MYNARD.

A member of the Emberton, Bucks, band for 46 years, has died in the person of Mr. E. S. Mynard. He had several peals to his credit rung for the Bedfordshire Association and the Oxford Diocesan Guild.

His funeral was on December 30th. In his memory 1,320 Treble Bob Minor (720 Kent and 600 Oxford) was rung on January 2nd by J. Lovell 1, H. Lovell 2, F. J. Mynard (cond.) 3, C. Wilson 4, F. W. Mynard 5, W. Cook 6.

MR. R. EDWARDS.

By the passing of Mr. Richard Edwards, St. Oswald's, Oswestry, has lost a ringer who for 57 years was a model of punctual and regular attendance. On Sunday, December 19th, he was ringing as usual, but two days later was taken ill and died in a few hours at the age of 77.

Mr. Edwards was not a prolific peal ringer, ringing about 20 in the standard methods, but was rarely absent on a Sunday. Surely his epitaph is 'Well done, thou good and faithful servant.'

W. B. K.

MR. W. LINTER.

In connection with the passing of Mr. W. Linter, of Swanmore, Hants, reported in our last issue, A.P. writes that Mr. Linter took part in 720 Kent Treble Bob on his 91st birthday on November 27th, 1948. The same bells were rung muffled for his funeral by members of the Diocesan Guild. In a tribute, the Rector (the Rev. A. E. McCaig) mentioned his work as chorister, parish clerk and captain of the ringers for many years. He assisted in coaching many beginners. He was a personality and will be missed and remembered for many years.

A 200th ANNIVERSARY

Dear Sir,—Regarding the peal of Grandsire Caters at Reading on December 22nd the following may be of interest to your readers. In the 'Reading Mercury' under date of November 26th, 1748, is the following:—

'At this date St. Laurence's Church bells, 10 in number, were cast and hung by the ingenious Mr. Catlia, of Shoe Lane, London, and the event was commemorated by the Society of Reading Youths ringing a "compleat peal of 5,040 Caters in 3 hours and twenty-nine minutes."

No record can now be found of the names of those taking part in this peal and no records of the Reading Youths are known to exist, and further application to the Bodleian Library has failed to find a copy of the 'Reading Mercury' of that date.

The church records state that at that date the existing eight bells were recast and turned into a ring of ten.

On November 27th, 1948, an attempt was made to ring 5,040 Grandsire Caters, but it came to grief after two hours' ringing through two bells changing over, but a second attempt, though not the same peal, was successful.

The peal rung in November, 1748, would be also the first in Reading and the first in Berkshire.—Yours faithfully,

E. G. FOSTER

(Foreman, St. Laurence's).

TANWORTH-IN-ARDEN

Until October, 1947, Tanworth-in-Arden, Warwickshire, had had a 'stone' band. On December 18th, following an unsuccessful peal attempt, 1,260 Grandsire Doubles was rung by: John H. Jones 1, J. N. Lindon (cond.) 2, J. Scott 3, A. H. Fitter 4, A. D. Cook 5, A. J. Collins 6. This was the first quarter of Grandsire by all except the conductor.

A complete restoration of the bells and framework by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank is due to commence after Christmas and finish by May, 1949. The contract includes a new all-metal frame, rehanging in ball bearings, recasting the fifth and adding two new trebles.

The front five bells are by Richard Sanders, of Bromsgrove, and were cast in 1707. In 1733 the tenor was cast by Smith, of Edgbaston, the last major overhaul being in 1894.

To have a permanent record of the bells a gramophone recording was made. If anyone would like a copy they are asked to contact Mr. John H. Jones, Bank House, Tanworth-in-Arden, near Birmingham.

A SUFFOLK VIEW ON THE B.B.C.

Dear Sir,—In endorsing the Somerset protest in a recent issue of 'The Ringing World' I wish to acquaint my fellow-ringers of my experience with the B.B.C. in doing my best to get campanology properly recognised by them. We shall not get the recruits so urgently needed in the art until the general public realise that it is not just a matter of removing one's coat and tugging like blazes at a ton of metal.

I recall the journalist's report of the peal at Chelmsford, which gave the impression (in ignorance) that the door was locked to prevent anyone stopping the ringers from making a noise.

We were given a place of honour by Maurice Brown in the St. George's Day broadcast and, as you know, were cut down as much as possible in the final arrangement of the programme. This recording was one of the finest pieces of striking I have ever heard, and in reply to my request to purchase the record I was politely informed that it was their copyright and they didn't intend to part with a copy. I pointed out that if a band leader had a few bars played and was faded down to allow the commentator to start talking it would be regarded as an insult.

The 'Radio Times' printed the name of the Vicar and organist, but the name of the ringing conductor or mention of the bells did not seem to matter.

I was once told by a B.B.C. director that ringers seemed so keen on their art that they had little or no time for the listening public, and was also asked what we saw in it. I replied that, apart from all the interest which ringing produced, I had 40,000 good friends spread about the country.

My part in the St. George's Day programme was to arrange for the ringing item, and I pointed out that one of the important things was to have the 'mike' on the best side of the tower, also the correct distance away, but in the few broadcasts we have had since this advice has not appeared to be of any importance to the B.B.C., with the result that we often get the tenors drowning the trebles.

Here's wishing us all a 'striking' New Year, with recruits available to get every ring of bells in the country sending forth their message of peace and goodwill every Sunday.—Yours fraternally,

LESLIE MILLS.

Bures, Suffolk.

FORWARD MINOR

Dear Sir,—For some time I have been experimenting with a method which I understand is Forward Minor, but I have been unable to compose a full 720 or prove conclusively the impossibility of so doing. I wonder if any of your readers can help me?—Yours faithfully,

P. H. WHITAKER.

Kildwick, near Keighley, Yorks.

WEST REGIONAL BROADCASTING

Dear Sir,—Two brief notes on broadcasting in the West may be of some interest:—

(a) The broadcast from St. Mary Redcliffe was magnificent. I do not think that I have ever heard bells come over the air with quite such grand effect.

(b) In an announcement of religious broadcasting on the West Regional on January 3rd it was officially stated that the programme would include examples of 'fine bells and skilled bellringing.'

Cheshire Xmas Day Wedding

Former fellow-students of Cheshire Agricultural College, Mr. Gordon George Vincent, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. D. Vincent, of Hale, and Miss Betty Skellern, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Skellern, Melrose, Boundary Lane, Mossley, were married on Christmas Day at Mossley Parish Church. The 130 guests included many ringing friends.

The Vicar (the Rev. J. Sellors) officiated. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore white silk velvet with coronet of orange blossom and net veil. Her bridesmaids, the Misses Grace Davenport and Jean Hoyland, were in fuchsia velvet. Mr. John Vincent was best man, and Messrs. W. Copeland, T. Hayes and J. Cooke were groomsmen.

Handbells were rung between the toasts at the reception by J. Worth, Mrs. Vincent, Gordon and John Vincent. In proposing the toast of 'The bridegroom's parents,' Mr. John Worth brought in a crack or two about the Suffolk origin and the inevitable 'Thumb-piece.'

Friends who have known the bridegroom from a boy rang a peal at Wrenbury. He heard the last hour and spent a happy time with them before leaving for his honeymoon at Blackpool.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Vincent will be living at Wrenbury.

REV. A. S. ROBERTS FIRST VICAR OF CARBIS BAY

December 18th was a great day in the history of Carbis Bay Church, when the church was consecrated, and the Rev. A. S. Roberts instituted and inducted as first Vicar of the newly-created parish. The church was built in 1929, and has been served by a priest-in-charge.

The Rev. A. S. Roberts has been at Carbis Bay for eight years, and during that time much has been done to constitute the new parish. Additions have been a ring of eight bells, and in August last an electric striking tower clock. It must be unique for a priest-in-charge and his wife to have taken part in five peals on their own bells before the church became a parish church.

The Bishop of Truro and the Assistant Bishop, who is also Archdeacon of Cornwall, and the Rev. I. S. Jenkins (Vicar of St. Ives and Rural Dean) took part in the service.

ESSEX PEAL BOARDS

The excellent spirit prevailing between ringers and clergy was much in evidence at St. Andrew's, Hornchurch, on Dec. 12th, when two peal boards commemorating recent peals were dedicated by Canon Courthope during evensong.

During the service a course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells by G. W. Faulkner 1-2, C. Fenn 3-4, R. W. Stannard 5-6, F. V. Gant 7-8.

Barwell, Leicestershire

The first Ringers' Sunday at Barwell, Leicestershire, on December 12th, was a great success. The local band had decorated the church with flowers and evergreens in readiness for Christmas, and in each window was placed a handbell, signifying the thoughts and prayers of the day. Special leaflets containing ringers' hymns had been printed and were used by the large congregations.

Holy Communion at 8 a.m., which was a corporate celebration for ringers, was preceded by touches of Grandsire Triples, and an hour's ringing before matins brought a busy morning's duty to a close. The Rector preached at this service and spoke of the long history of bells and bellringing.

In the afternoon a special service of carols, sung by children's massed choirs of 200 voices, attracted amazing crowds, and every available space in the church was filled.

Following this, tea was provided for visiting ringers and friends who attended afternoon and evening services at the Church Institute. Evensong was preceded by touches in various methods, the preacher being Canon R. F. Wilkinson, himself a ringer of, West Bridgford, Notts.

Throughout the day members of the local band acted as readers and sidesmen, and at eventide, when the last of the congregation had departed, we all felt that our first Ringers' Sunday had made its mark upon the life of the Parish Church. Collections throughout the day amounted to £15, and were handed to the local bell fund.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION

The quarterly meeting of the Eastern District was held at Goole on January 1st, and was attended by about 35 ringers from 15 towers. The bells were kept going from two o'clock until service, conducted by the curate, Rev. Metcalfe, who gave the address.

Tea was served in the Church Schools, after which the business meeting was presided over by the vice-president, Mr. A. H. Fox, who began by wishing all a very happy New Year. Five new members were elected, viz., Messrs. R. Coldwell, of Snaith, and L. Straughan, of Pocklington, and Mrs. Graves and Mr. and Mrs. E. Smith, of Carlton. It was decided to hold the spring meeting at Carlton and Snaith. The usual votes of thanks were passed, special thanks being expressed to Mrs. J. J. Taylor for her kindness in providing such an excellent tea, including an iced cake to celebrate the New Year.

The meeting stood in silence in memory of Mr. W. Pearson, of Pontefract, an old member of the Association, who died recently. A collection for the bell repair fund realised 18s. Mr. A. E. Sellers appealed to those not at present taking 'The Ringing World' to become subscribers and so help to keep the paper going. Ringing in various methods continued till 9 o'clock.
