RINGER AND SINGER

FEW present day ringers will remember old Henry Burstow, of Horsham, Sussex, who was born at Horsham in 1826. A noted ringer was Henry, and he was also remarkable for his singing. He was a cobbler and he was engaged in making women's boots at 1s. 6d. per pair, and his average earnings amounted to 15s. a week. Never did he take 20s. for one week's work at his trade, so with his wife they faced one long struggle against poverty.

Henry started bellringing in 1841 at the instigation of his master's father, old John Vaughan, who was sexton and head bellringer at the time; but his first snag was the payment of the entrance fee, viz., 3s., which was an utter impossibility at that time. An alternative was offered of ringing for the first six months without receiving any payment for it, but Henry did not like the idea, so old John Vaughan came to the rescue and paid the fee on condition that Henry would repay the money from the first payment he received. Later when Henry offered the repayment the old man refused, so Henry went straight away and bought himself a new hat with his earnings, an act that greatly enhanced his self-importance and much pleased his dear old mother.

In 1843, when many of the old songs and carols that had been handed down through the generations by word of mouth were already largely forgotten except by the older folk, the Rev. John Broadwood started to make a collection of traditional songs which was afterwards continued by his niece, Lucy Broadwood, and has since been augmented by Dr. Vaughan-Williams, W. H. Gill and George Butterworth.

Many of the songs which he recorded were given to him by Henry Burstow, for his father ran a clay pipe business in the town and used to travel round the countryside in a pony-cart selling his wares. In that way Henry picked up the words and music of 200 songs and by degrees augmented them to 420. Many of these have been preserved by the Folk Lore Society.

There are records of bells at Horsham Parish Church from the turn of the 16th century, and there may well have been bells before that period. However, the 18th century was the heyday of the Horsham ringers, for in 1766, 14 years after the Whitechapel Foundry produced a ring of eight, the Horsham ringers scored their first peal in 3 hours and 8 minutes. The peal board still exists, and last year it was refurbished, still the pride of the ringing chamber.

Henry Burstow possessed a cheerful, buoyant heart and was contented with his lot, even when times were hard. Wheat £45 per load in Horsham Market; butchers' meat rarely tasted; common rushes from ponds, dipped in grease, were the only means of light and tinder boxes the only means of ignition. Labourers were forced to steal turnips from fields at night in order to sustain life.

Henry Burstow, a singer all his life, and a noted Sussex ringer from age 15, was fond of singing his 420 songs right through, every song from start to finish. In April, 1906, he sang all the 420 on 41 consecutive evenings in celebration of his wife's 78th birthday.

Henry Burstow, his father and Mrs. Henry Burstow were instrumental in making Horsham one of the most musical towns in Sussex, and it is largely through them that so many of the traditional songs are still remembered.

Ever cheerful and happy, Henry Burstow died in February, 1916, at the age of 89; and he wrote the history of his life, also a list of the 420 songs he knew and loved to sing in his characteristic way.

WILLIAM SHEPHERD.

A HAPPY NEW YEAR

'SEVEN... Eight... Nine... Ten... Look to. Eleven... Twelve. Treble going; she's gone.' At this the treble sharply spoke, followed quickly by her seven-compatriots going down the scale.

'A Happy New Year, everybody.' 'A Happy New Year.'

In churches all over Britain this must have been the general pattern, but in this church, set in the suburbs of a large city, this was an event which the local ringers hoped was to be the start of a new year of good ringing, and progressive ringing at that.

Outside the church, across the snow swept main road, the local pub was still open, the sound of merriment drifting across to the churchyard. How many people in that house realised or even cared what had been done in that belfry in order that the old year was rung out and the new welcomed. They must have thought 'Ring out the old, ring in the new,' and gone back to their pints.

To the ringers in the belfry this ringing, in fact the whole of the ringing for the Christmas and New Year festival, was an achievement. Twelve months ago the local newspaper had featured on its front page an article describing a cold, deserted belfry, and had pictured the eight ropes hanging unmanned. This year another local newspaper had come to the church and was amazed at the energy and enthusiasm that the young local band was showing. The average age had been worked out at just under 22; this was allowing for two ringers who had been ringing for more years than they would care to admit.

The ringers were pleased that the Press had come for they had rung a quarter peal for Christmas, at a nearby church, and had gone very near to scoring another at their own later in the evening. They had rung for the birth of the Saviour at midnight the same day, and then there was the morning ringing at their friends' churches starting at 6.30 a.m.

The ringing for New Year, they themselves would admit, could have been better, but although they now can ring Kent and are starting on Double Norwich, Grandsire it was agreed was the safest to end the old year and Stedman to start it. A course of Double Norwich was achieved two days later.

A Happy New Year, everybody.

'DRUMMER.'

SPILSBY BELLS RESTORED

The six bells at St. James', Spilsby, Lincolnshire, have recently been restored by Messrs. John Taylors. The bells were all cast by Thomas Hedderly in 1744, and have been tuned, one eighth turned and rehung lower in the tower with new fittings in a steel frame.

Many ringers will know how difficult these bells were to handle and will be relieved to hear that this difficulty has been completely eliminated. The tenor weighs 11 cwt, 2 qr, 27 lb., and is in the key of G. J. R. K.

Half Century of East Harling Bells

The fiftieth anniversary of the rededication of the bells of East Harling Parish Church, Norfolk, after recasting and hanging in a new iron frame was not allowed to pass unnoticed. On the actual day a peal was rung and in it was Mr. W. B. Duncan, of Gorleston, who rang in the first peal on the bells in 1912. Afterwards the ringers were entertained to supper by Drs. Paul and Elizabeth Jonason.

On the Sunday the Rector, the Rev. K. Wilkinson Riddle, conducted a service of thanksgiving in connection with the anniversary. Before and after the service touches were rung on the bells by local and visiting ringers.

In place of the usual sermon a talk about the history of the bells and the events leading up to their rehanging in 1912 was given by Dr. P. H. A. Jonason, who revealed that the first peal on the bells was rung on December 21st, 1912, in two hours 46 minutes by William Duncan, Thomas Fitzjohn, Sidney Annison, Alfred Newson, Fred C. Burrows and Charles Carter.

Dr. Jonason said that the present church at East Harling was built on the site of an earlier one in 1449—47 years before Columbus discovered North America. Bells were first put in the tower in 1456, and up to 1616 there were only three of them. In 1677 the largest was melted down and cast into two smaller ones, and a similar recast in 1746, and an addition made the number up to six as at present.

Entries in the parish register were quoted such as an account in 1755 for 'Oyle for ye Bells—8d.' and in 1799 'beer for ye ringers—2s. 6d.' The accounts show how in 1910 the tower and the bells were declared unsafe, and a fund was opened to repair them—subscriptions came in and in a short time £120 was raised, and a fete in 1912 realised £113. A tender of £159 for rehanging the bells in a new frame was accepted in September, 1912, and the work, with the addition of recasting of some of the bells which was found necessary when they arrived at the foundry, was started in November and completed in time for a service of dedication on December 19th.

RINGING AGAIN IN ANOTHER SUFFOLK TOWER

The eight bells of the picturesque Church of St. Mary, Worlingworth, rang out for the first time for 41 years on December 17th.

Extensive repair work has been carried out to the church since May and is still continuing. When it is completed it will mean about £8,000 has been spent on the church since the war.

The bells had been silent because it was felt their vibrations might increase the risk of further damage to the nave roof, with its fine double hammer beams. The roof has now been made safe, and workmen are at present engaged on repairing the floor and the Jacobean pews, believed to be one of the few complete sets in the country.

The font—formerly in Bury Abbey—is to be restored in the spring of next year and the stained glass windows the following year. The Bishop of St. Edmundsbury and Ipswich, Dr. A. H. Morris, has agreed to preach at a rededication and thanksgiving service at the church in July.

SURREY GOLDEN WEDDING QUARTER

IN honour of the golden wedding anniversary of ex-Police Sergeant Francis Hagley and Mrs. Hagley, a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples was rung at All Saints' Church, Witley, on December 28th, by a band of ringing colleagues from West Surrey towers. Mr. Hagley has been captain at Witley for the past 20 years and serves on the Parochial Church Council.

His enthusiasm for ringing is shared by his son, Supt. R. J. C. Hagley, who is captain of the Godalming Parish Church ringers. His two grandsons, Roy and John, also ring at Godalming.

Ex-Sgt. Hagley's father was in the Exeter City Police in the days when policemen wore top hats and long boots: his son, Supt. Hagley, is in charge of the Godalming Division of the Surrey Constabulary; his daughter, Miss Joan Hagley, is employed in a civilian capacity at Godalming Police Station, and his sister, Mrs. Bird, was one of the first policewomen at Hereford.

The quarter peal of Grandsire Triples was organised by the vice-captain (Mr. Brian Vince). Participating were: S. G. Ponting (Holy Trinity, Guildford) 1. F. Bowden (Haslemere, conductor) 2. J. H. Payton (Chiddingfold) 3. J. W. Hagley (Godalming) 4. R. J. C. Hagley (Godalming) 5. J. P. McDermott (Haslemere) 6. A. C. A. Hunter (Shalford) 7. B. G. D. Vince (Witley) 8.

Our photograph shows the band who rang the quarter peal with Mr. F. Hagley in the centre. The Witley ringers presented the couple with a pair of casserole dishes and stands.

NEW LONG LENGTH ON HANDBELLS

A new long length has been rung of Plain Bob and of Major on handbells by the successful peal of 15,904 Plain Bob Major, rung at Whingarth, 17, Ridge Road, Marple, Cheshire, on December 22nd in 7 hours and 40 minutes.

The conductor, Mr. Robert B. Smith, writes that, due to unforeseen circumstances, the peal started 1½ hours late, and the last two parts of the peal were replaced by two bobs at home.

The umpires (Messrs. Giles B. Thompson and John Robinson), in their report, state:

'A late start was made due to the cold weather and a fog lying over the Mersey Valley. However, by 10.45 the band got under way and settled down to a rather slow pace; although there were changes in the rate of ringing and a wide range of ringing speeds, which is apparent on the samples recorded on tape.'

'The coldness of the weather was almost equal to that on December 23rd last year, when the same band were setting up the new record of Yorkshire Royal, though this time they had a fire to keep them warm (indeed one ringer complained of being too hot due to an umpire's over generosity with the coal!)

'By 6 p.m. the band decided that with 15,000 odd changes behind them they had had enough for one day and thus the peal was brought round after the 10th part end, by calling two Homes giving 15,904 Plain Bob Major in 7 hours 40 minutes—the greatest length of Major rung "in hand."

'The umpires wish to express their thanks to Bob's parents for their generous hospitality.'

CARDINAL WOLSEY AND BELLS

By the Late ERNEST MORRIS

THOMAS WOLSEY, Cardinal and Statesman (c. 1475-1530), is naturally mentioned in connection with several churches and consequently bells! Born of an Ipswich grazier, he distinguished himself at Magdalen College, Oxford, at an early age, and took orders. He became a member of the Council of Henry VIII and secured his position by diplomatic triumph. In 1514 he became Bishop of Lincoln and Archbishop of York.

He later fell into disgrace and the fatal moment arrived when Henry resolved to marry Anne Boleyn. When he failed to procure the king's desire, the king turned and vented his wrath upon him. In 1529 he was deprived of all his offices and honours, and charged with high treason. While journeying south to meet his accusers he died at Leicester Abbey.

The most noted connection he (Wolsey) had with bells is at Sherborne Abbey, Dorset, which contains the heaviest ring of eight bells in England. Before recasting in 1933, the tenor weighed 45 cwt. 1 qr. 1 lb., and was by Warner, but after recasting by Mears and Stainbank she now weighs 46 cwt. 5 lb. At that time the other bells were retuned, and rehung in new bearings and fittings. Originally the gift of Cardinal Wolsey, it was brought from Tournai with other bells. It became cracked and was recast in 1865. The present bell is inscribed:

'By Wolsey's gift I measure time for all.

To mirth, to grieffe, to church, I serve to call.

Recast 1670 by Thomas Purdue, of Clossworth, Somerset: Joseph Barker, Vicar; Gustavus Horne, Walter Pride, churchwardens. Again recast 1865 by John Warner and Sons, of London, Edward Harston, Vicar; James Hoddinott, Francis Stokes, churchwardens. Again recast, 1933 by Mears and Stainbank, of London. Wilfred Marcus Askwith, Vicar; Clement Horace Adams, James Florance, churchwardens.'

The cost of recasting the tenor was defrayed by contributions from Old Boys of Sherborne Grammar School, through an appeal made by the late Major J. H. B. Hesse. There is a 'fire bell' (32½ ins. diameter) which says: 'Lord quench the fire's flame Aris, rvn, help pvt ovt the same. I. W. I. G. 1654. R. A.'

The ancient sanctus (diameter 19 ins.) has an invocation to St. Mary.

The curious detached 'bell house' at East Bergholt, Suffolk, has a local tradition that Cardinal Wolsey, while engaged on the work of the building, fell into disgrace, and so the tower was never finished. Certainly the whole work was not dependent upon him only, if we may judge from the will of Roger Cole, of Stratford, Suffolk, clothmaker, 1527, who writes:

Certainly the whole work was not dependent upon him only, if we may judge from the will of Roger Cole, of Stratford, Suffolk, clothmaker, 1527, who writes:

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD Bingham District

The long draught to the beautifully toned bells at Langar proved rather difficult for some of the younger members at the Bingham District meeting on December 8th.

Tea was served in the Village Institute, and at the business meeting which followed Mr. Musson (Granby) was elected a member. Nine towers were represented, the attendance reaching 41. The ladies who had prepared the tea were thanked by Mr. Loach.

Forthcoming meetings: Annual District, Radcliffe-on-Trent, January 12th; Oxtun and East Bridgford, February 8th.

DISTRICT DINNER

The first dinner and social of the recently formed Bingham District took place at the Griffin, Whatton-in-the-Vale, on December 14th. Forty-seven ringers enjoyed a first class meal and several diners were so full (after second helpings) that they were unable to join in the games and dancing. This new venture was a great success and we hope to make it an annual event. Thanks are due to Mr. and Mrs. Clarke and Mr. and Mrs. Exton, for the arrangements, and to all who attended and joined in the fun and games. R. B.

Sherborne Abbey tenor, recast in 1933 by Whitechapel Foundry, is inscribed: 'By Wolsey's gift I measure time for all, To mirth, to grieffe, to church I serve to call.'

'I will that my Executors, after my departure, at times convenient, do deliver, or cause to be delivered, to the use and building of the Church of East Bergholt, as much free stone as shall make up the work there, that is to say, the body of the church, with north aisle, according to such promise as I have made.'

This bequest is not consistent with Wolsey's idea of building a tower. He was then well up in dignity and wealth, holding the See of Durham with the Archbishopric of York. The bell cage still has a bell by Henry Jordan, who died in 1468. But another legend says of the curious bell cage:

'As far back as the 15th cent. it was erected in another corner of the churchyard, but the squire was so annoyed by the sound of the chimes, that he had the curious building removed, so that the intervening church might deaden the sound.'

The bell house is only a brick foundation, about a foot above the ground, and the bells are rung from the stock without wheels or ropes.

They are a heavy ring of five, largest 25 cwt., and each ringer stands on a shelf, two feet above the ground, by the side, and swings his bell by hand by the stock on which it is hung, and so, like a pendulum and by centrifugal force, they are rung up. For chiming purposes, small lines are led from the bell clappers over pulleys above, which fall down and are handled by the ringers.

Standard of Ringing Higher, Says 'Church Times'

'Urbanus,' whose feature articles in 'The Church Times' are exceedingly popular, writes knowingly on ringing in the issue of December 21st.

We quote two interesting points he makes: 'It is not because of any shortage of ringers that bells are silent. There was never a time in living memory when ringers in plenty were more eager to exercise their skill. Some of them, particularly bands of young men and women, are keener, it is true, on "collecting" towers than on ringing regularly for church services in one place. Such teams will travel long distances to notch new towers in their log-books. None the less, most of the members of such parties, which may often number between fifty and a hundred ringers, have their places in their home towers Sunday by Sunday.'

'Having heard a good deal of ringing lately, I have come to the opinion that the standard of attainment is much higher than it was when I was initiated into the art of campanology (as it was then called long years ago). Moreover, records of accuracy and endurance in change ringing are constantly being broken, as may be seen in that excellent publication, "The Ringing World."

OBITUARY

MR. HARRY STOKES

We regret to record the death of Mr. Harry Stokes, of Woodbury, Devon, aged 85. He was the son of Mr. Harry Stokes, who was one of the best master bell hangers in the West Country. The second Harry for a number of years combined bell hanging with farming. The latter side of his business developed extensively and he dropped bell hanging. On the occasion of the Central Council meeting at Exeter, he entertained members to tea. His son—also a Harry—married the daughter of Mr. Albert A. Hughes.

Cremation took place on Tuesday, and the ashes were interred in Woodbury Church.

MR. STEPHEN W. STRATFORD

Mr. Stephen Stratford died two days before Christmas. He would have been at his happiest if he could have died in Whitley Bay ringing chamber to the sounds he loved so well all his life. At 84 he passes on, the last but one of a generation that made Whitley bells famous.

In 1911, when Whitley Bay had only six bells, he was one of the small band which included five Gofton brothers who, in 52 consecutive Sundays, rang 41 legitimate Surprise Minor methods, a 'performance,' said 'The Ringing World' of the day, 'which stamps them as the most talented six bell band in the kingdom.'

He was among the band which made the tower even more famous after the ring was augmented to eight. Under two such conductors as T. T. and J. A. Gofton, he was content to take a minor role, but he was that backbone of good bands—a steady, reliable and expert ringer.

Not a prolific peal ringer, he was, however, a regular Sunday service ringer, and rarely missed a practice night. Right up to his death, when he was a very sick man, he dragged himself along to the belfry, and wearily mounted the tower though he could no longer—to his angrily muttered chagrin—grip a rope.

It seemed unreal to be ringing in the New Year without him.

REV. C. F. WARD

The funeral of the Rev. C. F. Ward, Vicar of Billingborough and Sempringham with Pointon, took place at Sempringham Abbey, Lincs, on December 13th. Despite heavy rain the church was filled with sympathisers from the parishes, who made the pilgrimage to the isolated Abbey to pay a last mark of respect to a beloved Vicar.

The service was conducted by the Rev. J. W. Hansan, Rector of Grimoldby, Louth, a fellow curate with deceased when at Louth. The lesson was read by the Archdeacon of Lincoln, the Ven. A. C. Smith, and the Bishop of Grantham, the Rt. Rev. Anthony Otter, conducted the committal. There was also a large number of clergy in attendance from various parishes in the district.

Mr. Ward was a ringing member of the Billingborough band, and an honorary member of the Southern Branch of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild. He had been in failing health in recent months and came to Billingborough from Louth in 1958. Although not a prolific ringer, he always made welcome ringers who visited his two churches at Billingborough at the ancient Abbey at Sempringham, which he loved so well, and worked so hard for its upkeep and welfare.

After the service the six bells at the Abbey Church were rung half-muffled, and in the evening a quarter peal was rung at Billingborough, half-muffled.

MOST METHODS FOR SERVICE

Dear Sir,—In reply to your question in Belfry Gossip on page 856, as to the largest numbers of methods in a service quarter, in 1955 and 1956 at Ichingfield, Sussex, 30 methods were frequently rung to a quarter peal for service. On one occasion a quarter was rung in 40 methods. This I have always regarded as a record.—Yours sincerely,

GEORGE FRANCIS.

OLDEST COMPLETE RING OF EIGHT

Dear Sir,—Re the footnote to the peal at Bishop's Cannings on December 15th ('R.W.' page 875), I have always been given to understand, on fairly good authority, that the bells at Merton College, Oxford (28½ cwt. in E flat), constitute the oldest complete eight in the country. Perhaps some reader, more informed than myself, could verify this.—Yours sincerely,

JOHN PLADDYS.

West Hartlepool.

P.S.—Could the conductor of the peal enlighten us as to the source of the information?—J. P.

WELL DONE, SAPCOTE

Dear Sir.—I would like very much to congratulate Mr. Michael E. Brown and his enthusiastic band of ringers at Sapcote, Leicestershire, who recently rang a peal of Spiced Surprise Minor in 21 methods.

This reflects great credit on Mr. Brown, who has trained this band from more or less nothing to its present standard, and is a great reward for the hard work he has done in training them.

This band has also rung seven, 10 and 11 Spiced Surprise Minor recently.

Many of them also have adapted themselves to ringing on eight bells, just as well as on six, some having rung peals of Surprise Major as well, and one or two also ring Bristol.

Finally, I would like to say to this young band, well done, and I look forward to seeing many more peals of Spiced in the 'R.W.' during 1963 and the coming years.—Yours sincerely,

R. KINGSLEY MASON.

Knighton, Leicestershire.

NOT AN EXTENSION OF DURHAM SURPRISE MINOR

Dear Sir.—The following are the figures of two Plain Minor methods rung in recent peals: Dorney Court, —14—, 16, 34, 16, 34, 16—14—16.

St. Nicholas' College,

34, 16—36—36—36—16, 34, 12.

The method rung on handbells at Leicester is not an extension of Durham Surprise Minor. As such it should not be named Durham Surprise Royal. It is an extension of a Major method, and also goes to Maximus, viz:

—38—, 14, —12—, 38, 14—14, 38, 14—34, 18.

—30—, 14, —12—, 30, 14—14, 30, 14—14, 30.

—3t—, 14, —12—, 3t, 14—14, 3t, 14—14, 3t.

14—14, 3t, 14—34, 1t.

all with lead end 12, 1352, etc.

As can be seen, this family of methods has three different subsections below the treble. —12—, 14—14 and 14—34. Durham Surprise Minor does not have the subsection 14—14, and does not extend to Major. I use the word extension in the sense of the Central Council Decision on Method Extension.—Yours sincerely,

FRANK T. BLAGROVE.

Windsor.

CONDUCTED HER SECOND PEAL

Dear Sir.—Since there has recently been much interest shown in the columns of 'The Ringing World' about young lady conductors, I thought that perhaps your readers would be interested in a peal rung at Woolwich, S.E.18, on December 29th. Miss Sheila Copping, of Bromley Common, who faultlessly conducted the peal of Plain Bob Major, is only 16 years 3 months old. It was her second peal, and that her first 'inside.' Her achievement was all the greater as there were two 'first pealers' in the band.—Yours faithfully,

MARIA E. KIRBY.

Bromley, Kent.

'CLERKENWELL SURPRISE MAJOR'

Dear Sir.—May I respectfully point out, that the notation given for the above method, on page 874 of 'The Ringing World,' is not Ashton No. 12, but it is Mottram No. 231 (2nds place L.E.) in Mr. A. J. Corrigan's Collection. Dare I remind the conductor that two f.c.e.s are given for Mottram.—Yours faithfully,

T. E. SONE.

Brenchley, Kent.

BROADCAST OF CALL CHANGES PRAISED

Dear Sir.—I would like to refer to the B.B.C.'s Christmas Day broadcast of church bells.

In this busy world of change ringing, where crack bands seem to be continuously competing against each other in ringing peals of various complex and often obscure methods, and where long length peals are fast becoming the most fashionable of all, and where perhaps not quite enough attention is paid to good striking, it was refreshing to listen to the call changes from Lostwithiel.

The opportunities to ring well-struck call changes with an experienced band are infrequent in this part of the country, and since I had never heard a West Country 'stony' band in action before, I listened with great interest.

My reaction, on hearing these anonymous ringers, was one of immense respect, for the striking was nothing less than magnificent. Their cartwheeling rhythm, though unfamiliar, did not detract in any way from the pleasure of hearing such perfect ringing, and although one would hesitate to criticise the performance of the Beddington band, for example, it was undoubtedly the bells of Lostwithiel which left the deepest impression.—Yours faithfully,

JOHN D. FAIRCLOTH.

West Wickham, Kent.

LINCOLNSHIRE CHURCH'S TRAGIC FIRE

Dear Sir.—On Christmas Day the chancel of Branston Church was completely gutted by fire, and the nave roof badly damaged. At the present moment it is impossible to hold services in the church.

However, apart from grime and soot, the bells were not touched, and continue to ring.

We, however, feel that, owing to this tragic loss, the ringing be kept to an absolute minimum. Thus the next peal on the bells will be for the complete restoration of the church.

The organ, voiced by 'Father Willis' himself, has gone, and other priceless treasures have gone as well.

One day, we are sure, All Saints', Branston, will rise again to its former glory. Therefore we ask touring bands, for the present, to miss Branston out of their towers and to come again when we can present them with not only a grand ring but a church in keeping with it.—Yours sincerely,

JOHN F. COOK.

Branston, near Lincoln.

A NEW RING OF TEN IN LINCOLNSHIRE

A part of the £15,000 general restoration work being carried out at St. James' Church, Grimsby, involved the complete removal of the ring of eight bells and the reconstruction of the inside of the tower.

As a result of this ringing ceased at Even-song on May 13th, 1962, and this was the last time the bells were to be heard ringing out their message over the town as a ring of eight, for they have, by the addition of two trebles, been augmented to ten.

The two new trebles and the old No. 4 were cast and recast respectively at Mears' Foundry on July 18th, and the complete ring of ten arrived back in Grimsby on November 9th. The bells were ready for testing on November 29th, and were tried out by a local company.

The bells remained silent until the ceremony of dedication and rededication on Christmas Eve. This was performed in the tower by the Vicar of Grimsby (Canon G. W. Markham), who was accompanied by the assistant curate (Rev. A. Charters) and the churchwarden (Mr. E. J. Wilkinson). After the prayers the opening rounds were rung by a local company. Afterwards they were joined by ringers from Boston, Scunthorpe, Ulceby and Kirk Ella.

The new treble bell was given by the Hand family, in memory of their parents, who were worshippers at St. James'. The new second has been provided from a legacy left by Miss Hall, who was also a member of the congregation.

The old wooden supports of the bell frame have been taken out and replaced by a modern concrete support, standing on eight legs. The old bell frame has been renovated and now rests on this new concrete support, and is entirely independent of the tower.

During the period the bells were at the foundry the local company met regularly for ringing on handbells at Grimsby, and on tower bells at the nearby village of Waltham. For the privilege of being able to ring at Waltham, Grimsby ringers are greatly indebted to the Rector of Waltham (the Rev. Lance Carter), and the leader at Waltham (Mr. J. Willows).

Owners of Dove's should note that the tenor still weighs the same, but that there is now a ring of ten bells and not eight. Incidentally, the ring at St. Andrew's, Grimsby, no longer exists, as the church has been demolished.

BELLS FOR PEACE—CANNONS FOR WAR

Reginald and Thomas Chyrch, of Bury St. Edmunds.

By T. A. BEVIS

THE 15th century bell foundry at Bury St. Edmunds, Suffolk, was favourably recognised throughout East Anglia, and was a byword as far as Church authorities in that region were concerned. Nowadays we would not attach any special significance with Bury bells where they survive when considering their merits, but one point is worthy of our attention: and that is the remarkable foundry shield incorporating a crown, arrows, keys, a bell and of all things a cannon, the latter of which suggests that the foundry 'conveyer belt' carried not merely bells for the church but also destructive weapons for the mediaeval army and navy.

It is not possible to name the originator of the Bury St. Edmunds bell foundry; his identity has receded into the mists of time. Nevertheless, a faint shadow remains of this elusive person in that one of the two slightly variable shields appertaining to the foundry in question is inscribed with the initials H.S. Now it would appear that 'H.S.' disposed of his business to Reginald Chyrch who later ran the concern jointly with his son, Thomas Chyrch.

Reginald was a burgess of that charming North Suffolk borough, perpetuating as it does the memory of Edmund, King and Martyr. The founder is said to have expired in the year 1498, his mortal remains being interred in the Church of St. Mary... under the marble ston ther be me laid... Deceased left 6s. 7d. to the 'parysshe preest' of that church, 'to p'y for my soule, and to rehearse my name in the bederoll ev'y Sunday.'

Reginald Chyrch was a kindly sympathetic man and in his will he remembered the sick and bedridden of the town, each sufferer receiving 4d., or more, according to the nature of his or her illness.

Many guilds benefited from the will, and received varying sums of money: 'To the gilde of Seynt Petyr, xijd. To the new werke w't'n the Monast'y of Seynt Edmund, x m're. To the gilde of the Purification of Our Lady callyd Candlemesse guild, xxs. To the gilde of the Decollac'on of Seynt John Baptist, xvd., and a cuppe of Silu' called a peace...'

The Bury founder held a good deal of property in the town. His three small tenements in 'Reyngates strete' were to remain after his death 'almens housis' for ever; furthermore, one Avery Foppys was to reside in one of these dwellings while she lived, and in another, Alis Power 'have hir dwelling in the hous that I bought hir during her lyffe...'. The bell founder's son, Thomas, was instructed in the will to 'make clene the grete lectorn that I gave to Seynt Mary chyrch quart'ly as longe as he levyth.'

Thomas Chyrch took over his father's business about the year 1498, and in his capacity of bell founder is recorded in the Munden Book at King's College, Cambridge, for the year 1500, when he was concerned with the recasting of a bell hung in the College clochard. This bell had a particularly interesting history well before Thomas laid his hands upon it.

Probably created in the early 15th century the instrument had occasion to be recast in 1460 by the celebrated 'Danyell fonder.' Apparently Danyell did not excel in that particular job for the bell was taken down and again broken up and melted by Henry Jurden in the year 1466. The old hymn, 'Tell me the old, old story,' sounds in the mind at this point, for in 1478 'de london Belfounder,' Thomas Harrys, was entrusted with the unlucky bell, but all to no avail. Finally, it sadly embarked on a journey to Bury St. Edmunds, where 'specialist' Thomas Chyrch prescribed the necessary and well tried 'cure.' Incidentally, this bell was exchanged in 1598 for a bell without inscription.

We also hear of Thomas Chyrch being engaged by the authorities of Cambridge Great St. Mary's, in 1514, when the founder cast a tenor, thus augmenting the bells in that tower to a ring of four. However, it became necessary to recast Chyrch's tenor in 1595.

An example of lettering from the Bury Foundry

A Bury Bell Stamp

The following is the will of Thomas Chyrch, dated July 12th, 1527:

'My body to be buried in Seynt Mary church in the Ele of Seynt Petyr, vnd (under) the ston ther be me layd. A priest to syng for my soule at the Awter of Seynt Thom's, &c., for 5 years. To the seid church of o'r lady oon food of led. To ev'y of the iij priests that shall bere my body to chyrch, xijd. To Margaret my wife, my ten't joynnyng to the capital ten't late my fladres in Southgate strete, su'tyme called Cobbolds. To Seynt Nicholas Gylde holdyn in the College w'thyn the seid Town of Bury, a litil stondyng maser.'

It has come to the writer's notice that the Bury St. Edmunds foundry passed into the hands of Roger Neve, and was not taken over by Stephen Tonni, who was also a bell founder at Bury. But one cannot help thinking that Tonni had a finger in the pie as far as the Chyrch family's premises were concerned. Or could it be that there were was a second mediaeval bell foundry at Bury, competing against the Chyrch enterprise? Roger Neve cast a bell in 1533 for Debden, Essex, under an obligation in the sum of £40 for the bell remaining good for a year and a day.

Ah, well, the founders of yesteryear have thoughtfully if not generously bequeathed to us those interesting specimens of pre-Reformation handiwork, and all works of metal have a story to tell. Happily a few 'Chyrch' bells have survived the rigours and trials of the years... but how intriguing it would be should one discover an early bombard or cannon with a mediaeval stamp, inscribed 'Fecit at Bury St. Edmunds.'

THE LADIES' GUILDCentral District

A 'winter wonderland' was the setting on December 29th for the meeting of the Central District at Harrow-on-the-Hill. In spite of the snow, which made travelling difficult, a good number of members and friends braved the elements and managed to reach the church, which is situated right at the top of the hill.

Ringing during the afternoon and evening catered for all abilities, and ranged from rounds to Surprise. The Vicar conducted a short service, and an excellent tea was served in the Church Room by the local ringers.

Following tea a short business meeting was held, at which we were very pleased to welcome two new members. Our vice-president, Mrs. Lock, told the meeting that an invitation had been received from the East Berks and South Bucks Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild to join them, and the Middlesex Association, at Beaconsfield on February 23rd for ringing and a social evening. Mrs. Lock also reported on arrangements for the Guild's annual meeting to be held at Ipswich in July, when the joint hosts would be the Eastern and Central Districts. Members asked that their services should be offered, for staffing the towers that would be open on that occasion, if required. Another item of news which the meeting was pleased to receive was that an associate member, Miss Hill, of Bishop's Stortford, had been awarded the R.S.P.C.A.'s silver medal. The vice-president had written a congratulatory letter to Miss Hill.

The next meeting, the annual, is on March 30th, and it is hoped that it will be held at St Ann's, Stamford Hill, London.

SOUTH DERBYSHIRE & NORTH LEICESTERSHIRE ASSOCIATIONDINNER

The main social function of the South Derbyshire and North Leicestershire Association is the annual dinner, which was held this year at Shardlow on December 7th. All tickets had been sold weeks before the event, and it was a surprise to the caterers to find this number exceeded. Our hosts, however, rallied round and the meal started with a full plate before everybody.

Mr. Fred Hinds, the chairman, announced an apology from the president, the Vicar of Tideswell. The Association's prize draw, on behalf of the Chellaston Church bell fund, followed. These bells are being augmented from three to six, and Mr. E. H. Willows, Ringing Master, of Chellaston, reported that a large portion of the frame had been assembled by himself, his ringers and friends. They hoped to receive the bells early in the New Year. Donations sent to him at 17, Sinfen Avenue, Allenton, near Derby, would be gratefully acknowledged.

Dancing and games followed the speeches. A ringing song from 'The Ringing World' was sung by a Diseworth ringer, and the chorus taken up by the company with enthusiasm. Handbell ringing included carols played by Aston-on-Trent ringers, a very pleasant surprise, which was the outcome of secret practices.

The second century of peals at Gateshead, Co. Durham, was started within 3½ hours of the finish of the first century when two peals, Pudsey and Cambridge S. Major, were rung there on December 29th.

Derek Ashton (14) has made an auspicious start in peal ringing. For his first he rang at Ashton-under-Lyne on a working bell in a peal of Plain Bob Maximus.

With Miss Pamela Gough home from Guildford for the Christmas holidays a ladies' quarter peal was rung at Aldrington, Sussex, on Christmas Eve, which Pamela conducted.

Mr. William H. Male has called Holt's Original from all eight bells for the Coventry Diocesan Guild. He 'completed the circle' at Bedworth on December 22nd.

Mr. Michael W. Fairey congratulates Miss Marilyn Smith on her first peal at Little Aston, Staffs, on December 29th. 'She rang an "inside" bell to Beverley Surprise Minor extremely well,' he writes.

We hope to publish a record of those who have rung 25 peals or more during 1962 at an early date. Will those who desire inclusion in this feature kindly supply numbers of peals rung on tower bells and 'in hand,' and also the number of peals conducted.

The quarter peal at Ewhurst, Sussex (5), on December 13th is believed to be the first on the bells, although at least three full peals have been rung there. Philippa Duncan and Judy Bowen certainly have the privilege of being the first local ringers to take part in any such length on the bells.

Exception has been taken by one of our pedants to our item in Belfry Gossip 'The Peterborough Guild has not a 12-bell tower' pointing out, as has been stated previously many times, that no towers belong to any Guild. What should have been stated is that there are no 12-bell towers in the Peterborough Diocese, and that is the interpretation, we think, most of our readers took of the Evesham peal paragraph.

BELFRY GOSSIP

During 1962, the local band at St. Thomas', South Wigston, Leicester, have rung 52 quarter peals and inquire if this is a record number for one church in one year. Twelve of the band have taken part and the conducting has been shared between B. G. Warwick (31), B. M. Smith (14), K. H. Mildred (4) and M. G. Wood (3). The highlight was Remembrance Sunday when three quarters were rung by the local band, all of whom have been taught by the Ringing Master during the last three years. Only the Ringing Master and his wife are over 18 years of age. The bells have been rung regularly for at least one hour before Evensong every Sunday.

Mr. George Waterman, one of the Harwich ringers, kindly stood out of the quarter peal at Harwich on Christmas Eve to allow Mr. and Mrs. J. Woodman, of Peterborough, to take part.

Hampton Grammar School Society have been assiduous in their handbell ringing at school. At the end of term quarter peals were rung on three successive days, all conducted by A. G. Tyers.

The five 'inside' ringers in the peal of Kent T.B. Minor at St. Edmund's, Kessingland, Suffolk, have rung the bells weekly since their restoration in December, 1960. The conductor, Richard C. L. Brown, has now rung peals of Kent from Minor to Maximus.

By ringing the second to a peal of Grandsire Caters on December 29th at Truro Cathedral the Rev. A. S. Roberts has 'circled the tower' and is the first to do so. In all he has rung in 13 of the 20 peals on the bells, his first being in November, 1927. It has taken 35 years to accomplish.

Before the peal attempt at Brewood, Staffs, on December 23rd, the Vicar visited the belfry and wished the ringers success. He said the villagers had been informed of the purpose of the afternoon's ringing (a 100th birthday). There was general acclamation and no complaints of spoilt 'after dinner' naps.
